Downloaded From: https://textbooksall.blogspot.com/

Annual Evaluation March 2025 Class 9 - BIOLOGY

Qn	Answer Key (English medium) Rasheed Odakkal
1	B). Reptilia. 2. c). i and iii - Osmois, ii and iv - Active transport.	5x1
3	b). Stomach, Pancreas, Liver, Small intestine. 4. c).Statement and reason correct.
5	b). Since the blastocyst attaches to the innerlining of the uterus.
6	d). Glucose – Pyruvic acid – CO_2 + Water.
7	a). STI (Sexually transmitted diseases). b). Ensuring genital hygiene, seeking immediate medical attention if symptoms occur, Vaccination.	6x2
8	Glucose, produced as a result of photosynthesis, is stored as insoluble starch. When starch undergoes metabolism in various parts of plants, it wil convert as protein, sucrose, fructose etc.
9	a). Due to cartilage. b). Vitamin D, which is necessary for the absorption of calcium, is produced when engaged in activities that expose us to sunlight.
10	a). Chordata. b). Presence of notochord or vertebral column.
11	Bryophyta - Vascular tissues are absent. Algae – The body called as thallus. Pteridophyta - Vascular tissues with simple structure. Gymnosperms - Seeds are not embeded in fruits.
12	a). X= Nastic movement, Y=Tropic movement / Phototropism. b). In X (nastic movement) direction of movement is not accordance with the direction of stimulus. In Y (tropism0 direction of movement towards the direction of stimulus.
13	Equal opportunities in leadership, decision making and positions, Opportunity to travel anywhere at any time with freedom and security, Equal right to education, Equal wages for equal work, Shared responsibilities for men and women (any 4)
14	a). Infertility. b). Defects in sperm production, decrease in the number of sperms and their motility, certain diseases, smoking, drug abuse, toxins… (any 2) c). Medicines and Assisted Reproductive Technologies (ART) like IVF.	5x3
15	a) X= Ultrafiltration, Z= secretion. b). Pressure due to the difference in the diameters of afferent vessel and efferent vessel. c). Yes, through Y, the essential components are reabsorbed into blood.
16	a). Transpiration. b). Root pressure / osmosis, Cohesion, Adhesion (any 2)
17	a). IUD (Intra Uterine Device). b). Tubectomy (cutting or tying the oviduct, to block the ovum) and vasectomy (cutting or tying the vas deferens to block the sperms)
18	Minute pores throughout the body – Porifera – Sponges. Marine organnisms with spiny body – Echinodermata – Starfish. Jointed legs – Arthropoda – Cockroach.
19	a). Colestrumm will give the baby lifelong immunity. b). Breast milk contains antibodies that protect the baby against infection, diarrhoea, respiratory diseases and allergies. c). Breast milk provides the nutrients needed for growth and cognitive development.
20	a). Shark b). Presence of vertebral column. c). Presence of placenta in man, not in kangaroo.
21	 a. Synovial fluid. b. Cartilage. c . Ligament.	2x4
22	a). (i). Bacteria. (ii). Archaea. (iii). Bacteria. (iv). Eukarya. b). The cell wall consists of peptidoglycan, Found everywhere, Prokaryotes (any 2) c). Viruses are not included because of very simple structure devoid of cytoplasm, cell organelles or a nucleus and they cannot multiply without the help of a host cell.
23	a) (ii). Amnion. (iii). Placenta. b) (iii). Placenta is formed by embryonic and uterine tissues. c) (i).Amniotic fluid prevents dehydration of the foetus and protects it from external shock. d). Umbilical cord. It also allow to reach oxygen and nutrients to the foetus.	(40)